

School employee nominations close today

The deadline to submit a nomination for a Henryetta Elementary School employee that made a positive impact on you or your children is drawing to a close. The last day you can submit your nomination is today Sept. 18. The contest to find that special school employee such as - teacher, counselor, coach, principal, librarian, cafeteria worker, janitorial staff or administrative personnel is a collaborative effort between the area schools and the Global Health Inspirational Award.

The contest nominations will close today Sunday Sept 18, then the top ten nominees will go up for voting from Sept. 20 through Sept 30. After votes are tallied the winner will be named at the Oct. 20 football game. The prize for the winner is $100 and the school will receive $1000. The contest is a great way to recognize a special school employee and help out the schools which are feeling the economic pinch.

Since the contest is open to multiple schools, it is up to you to make sure your school gets the recognition it deserves. Simply visit www.facebook.com/globalhealthinc on the Internet before the nomination process closes on Sunday, Sept. 18 and put the name of your favorite school employee who you think is deserving of honor.

"We have many employees who are deserving of the GlobalHealth Award," said Kelly Furer, Principal of Henryetta Elementary.
